

Check out your AUP

- Is it broad enough to cover the continuing changes of the Internet?
- Does it emphasize education as the goal for having access to the Internet?
- Does it state clearly that technology use is not anonymous?
- Is it readable (or is there a longer more detailed version and a version that is aimed at the public?)
  - bulleted lists
  - lack of jargon
- Does the permission form that the parents sign include a summary of the AUP with important points highlighted?
- Does it include guidelines and procedures that teachers can use to protect student's safety?
- Does it include some information on basic Netiquite?
